

Peter's 912 SST at YCAR

As the front-page headline in the "Gascoyne Classics" says, "Carnarvon Skies Are Abuzz". And, they were abuzz with the sound of three microlight aircraft – Peter's 912 SST, Sandy's 582 S2B and Geoff's 912 S3 operating nearly every day.

Brendan, Paul and Geoff had travelled to Carnarvon to deliver Peter's new 912 SST, to continue Sandy's training for licence, to start a new student and to take interested locals flying.

Sadly, the weather was not as kind to us as we would have liked with strong winds every day, and much of it directly across the runway. We managed to get in in air nearly every day but we rarely got much more than a hour. If it was flyable at sunrise, we'd get an hour or so before the winds picked up and it was time to put them away. Sometimes the winds would tone down in the afternoon for another flight but usually, it was just morning or just afternoon – very rarely both – which made it very frustrating.

Brendan, Paul, Peter, Geoff and Sandy at Carnarvon Airport

Photo by:
Phil Youd,
Gascoyne Classics

